A NATIONAL TOUCHDOWN.

When the history of achievements of American life insurance is properly written, it must credit the "National" with having originated the law in general of policy construction, that good insurance, to be truly useful, must leave to the insured the power to initiate at any time an adjustment of that insurance to his particular needs and desires. Doing that increases, of course, the number of hazards against which he is insured and very materially improves the protection. The "National" policies embrace easy payments, non-forfeiture, collateral availability, substitution by option of paid-up or term insurance, and, finally, convertibility from the endowment to the life form, and all, including installment payments in a single contract, so arranged as to sustain the claim that said contract is the perfection of life insurance thought applied in practice. 35th year, doing business in 43 states.

To buy or keep renting, is the question. There ought to be only one answer while the D. A. Perry Real Estate agency are selling desirable homes on such easy terms. About like paying rent only you pay it to yourself. See our advertisements in the For Sale columns.

Those who contribute to the Christmas sale, which is to be held in the parlors of the Congregational church in the afternoon and evening of Wednesday, Dec. 6th, are asked to bring the articles to the church on the afternoon of that day as early as possible. All contributions will be much appreciated.

Cian Gordon's annual Thanksgiving social and dance will be held in Hale's pavilion, Wednesday evening, November 29th, and a good night's enjoyment is assured all who attend. Gilbertson's orchestra will furnish music for dancing. Tickets are now for sale by the amusement committee. Watch The Times for programme which will appear later.

Gone, dear Francis, how I miss you! Lonely will I be today, For the one who used to play with me Has forever passed away.

Oh, why was he taken, so young and so fair When earth held so many it better could spare. Hard, hard was the blow that compelled us to part With a loved one so near and so dear To my heart.

Croup instantly relieved. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Perfectly safe. Never fails. At any drug store.

NATURE'S ESSENCE

Extracted from the Roots of Native Forest Plants. Go Straight Back to Nature for Your Health. There is Your Strength.

Consider your body as an engine which supplies you with all activity of mind and body. Keep the machinery well oiled and it runs smoothly. It does not groan in doing its work. But let the stomach, which is the fire-box to the human engine, get "out of kilter" and we soon meet with disaster. The products of undigested and decomposing food is poison to the system.

We do not live on what we eat but on what we digest, assimilate, and take up in the blood. The blood in turn feeds the nerves, the heart, and the whole system, and all goes well with us if the blood be kept pure and rich. If not, then the liver, which is the human filter within us, gets clogged up and poisons accumulate in the body from over-eating, over-drinking, or hurriedly doing both. The smash-up occurs when the blood is poisoned by the eruptions on the skin, or in nervousness and sleeplessness, the sufferer becoming blue, despondent and irritable, because the nerves lack nourishment and are starved.

Nature's laws are perfect if only we obey them. Go straight to Nature for the cure, to the forest; there are mysteries there, some of which we can fathom for you. Take the bark of the Wild-cherry tree, with Mandrake root, Stone root, Queen's root, Bloodroot, and Golden Seal root, make a scientific, glyceric extract of them, with just the right proportions, and you have Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It took Dr. Pierce, with the assistance of two learned chemists and pharmacists, many months of hard work experimenting to perfect this vegetable alternative and tonic extract of the greatest efficiency. To make rich, red blood, to properly nourish the nerves and the whole body, and cure that lassitude and feeling of weakness and nerve exhaustion, take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It bears the BADGE OF HONESTY upon every bottle in the full list of its ingredients, printed in plain English, and it has sold more largely in the past forty years than any other blood purifier and stomach tonic. The refreshing influence of this extract is like Nature's influence—the blood is bathed in the invigorating tonic which gives life to it and the vital fires of the body burn brighter and their increased activity consumes the tissue rubbish which has accumulated in the system.

The "Discovery" cures all skin affections, blotches, pimples, eruptions and boils; heals old sores, or ulcers, "white swellings," scrofulous affections and kindred ailments.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is just the tissue builder and tonic you require when recovering from a hard cold, grip, pneumonia or a long siege of fever or other prostrating disease. No matter how strong the constitution, our stomach and liver are apt to be "out of kilter" occasionally. In consequence our blood is disordered, for the stomach is the laboratory for the constant manufacture of blood.

It is a true saying that no man is stronger than his stomach. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery strengthens the stomach—puts it in shape to make pure, rich blood—helps the liver and kidneys to expel the poisons from the body and thus cures both liver and kidney troubles. If you take this natural blood purifier and tonic, you will assist your system in manufacturing each day a pint of rich, red blood, that is invigorating to the brain and nerves. The weak, nervous, run-down, debilitated condition which so many people suffer from, is usually the effect of poisons in the blood; it is often indicated by pimples or boils appearing on the skin, the face becomes thin and the feelings "blue." Dr. Pierce's "Discovery" cures all blood humors as well as being a tonic that makes one vigorous, strong and forceful. It is the only medicine put up for sale through drug-gists for like purposes that contains neither alcohol nor harmful drugs, and the only one, every ingredient of which has the professional endorsement of the leading medical writers of this country. Some of these endorsements are published in a little book of extracts from standard medical works and will be sent to any address free, on receipt of request therefor by letter or postal card, addressed to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. It tells just what Dr. Pierce's medicines are made of.

The "Words of Praise" for the several ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's medicines are composed, by leaders in all the several schools of medical practice, and recommending them for the cure of the diseases for which the "Golden Medical Discovery" is advised, should have far more weight with the sick and afflicted than any amount of the so-called "testimonials" so conspicuously flaunted before the public by those who are afraid to let the ingredients of which their medicines are composed be known. Bear in mind that the "Golden Medical Discovery" has the BADGE OF HONESTY on every bottle wrapper, in a full list of its ingredients.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation, invigorate the liver and regulate stomach and bowels.

Just Plain "S." An amusing incident occurred in the course of an inquest yesterday. The Coroner asked a witness what his name was, and received the reply, "Charles S. Jenkins." The Coroner—What does "S" stand for? The Witness—(with a strong American accent)—Just "S." I ain't "S." The Coroner—But you were not given a name formed of the letter "S" only? The Witness—Oh, no. I stuck it there so that my letters would reach me all right.—London Evening Standard.

Thus cried the hair. And a kind neighbor came to the rescue with a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor. The hair was saved! In gratitude, it grew long and heavy, and with all the deep, rich color of early life. Druggists have sold it in all parts of the world for 60 years. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

WOODLOT FORESTRY.

Simple Directions for Caring for the Wood Supply on the Farm.

Throughout a large part of the Eastern States nearly every farm has its woodlot. From that woodlot, which is often all that remains of the vast forests which originally clothed the region, the farmer supplies his own needs. It furnishes him with fuel, fences, posts, rails, poles, and even with timber, boards, and shingles to keep the farm buildings in repair. A well-managed woodlot is therefore a very valuable part of the farm, and the sum total of farm woodlots represents a very large national asset.

The U. S. Forest Service has for some years devoted special attention to the needs of woodlot owners. Its co-operation is offered to all who would have advice on the management of woodlots, and many thousands of acres of farm forests are now actually cared for under practical systems of forestry which it has recommended.

As a general rule, but little care is devoted to the woodlot. It is left to shift for itself, is often used too freely for the pasturage of live stock, and is rarely guarded from fire or forest enemies. When wood is needed but little discretion is exercised in the choice of trees, and no need is felt of providing for the renewal or improvement of the stand.

Yet it is decidedly a simple matter to care for the woodlot. The owner need not burden himself with any very elaborate system. Nor need he, in most cases, reduce the amount of timber which he cuts. Eventually, of course, he can cut more, for more will be grown. The first requirement of the ordinary woodlot is protection, and the second, selection in cutting.

Fire is the chief enemy of the woodlot. Fires damage the larger trees, starting in the butts or weakening them until they begin to die in the tops, reducing their value when cut; but the greatest harm is done to reproduction and the growth of young trees. Running over the forest soil, they consume the litter and kill the seedlings. The forest soil becomes too dry to encourage the germination of tree seeds. Even if seedlings succeed in finding root and begin to flourish, the next fire destroys them.

Fires may easily be kept out of the woodlot with a little care. They are often started to improve the grazing and pasture. This is certainly poor policy. While the grazing may be improved for a few years, the woodlot is often permanently injured. It is generally a poor plan to expect land to produce grass and wood at the same time. Neither will do well, and one owner will be paying taxes on land which he only half uses. Grazing animals often do much injury to the woodlot. They browse upon young growth and trample it down. They also pack the soil with their hoofs, destroying its power to retain moisture and encouraging the entrance of grass. Grazing should be watched, and should be permitted in the woodlot only when such harm will not result.

In cutting, the first thing to look out for is the young growth. The whole point of forest management is to have new trees of the most useful kind take the place of the old, just as soon as possible after they are cut. One thoughtless stroke of the ax will get rid of a fine sapling half the size of a man's wrist, if it is a little in the way, and a dozen years of growth is lost. On the other hand, the cutting of a good tree may simply open room for worthless trees to take its place.

In some regions care must be taken not to permit the crown cover to become too open. In a good forest the soil will be soft and moist, and this soil condition is essential if the trees are to thrive and make good growth. Opening the ground to the sun dries out the moisture, and often burns out the young growth as though by fire, while the trees tend to become branchy if they stand too far apart.

Fast neglect has produced many woodlots in which the healthy trees of the best kinds are choked with unsound and dead trees and trees of inferior kinds. For such cases improvement cuttings are needed. It will pay to spend the time and labor necessary to remove the dead, crooked, and diseased trees, together with any weed trees, so that the remaining stand may be composed of good timber trees in sound number, under conditions favorable for their best development. This can be done gradually as the material can be utilized.

When once the improvement cutting has brought the woodlot into business-like shape, further operations should be made with a view to reproduction and a lasting supply. Care should be taken in felling, working up, and hauling out wood to do as little damage as possible to young growth. If reproduction is to take place from seed, the proper location of seed trees must be considered.

Where the forest is composed mainly of such trees as oak and chestnut, which sprout well from the stump, it may be advisable to cut most of the good-sized trees over a part of the woodlot. For the purpose of raising a crop of sprouts. Such sprouts grow rapidly and produce good poles, posts, and ties at a comparatively early age. But the stumps should be cut low and slanted, so as to prevent rotting and secure strong and numerous shoots.

There are a number of thinning systems, some of which may suit the requirements of one woodlot but not those of another. By a careful reading of Bulletin No. 42 of the Forest Service, entitled "The Woodlot," the owner can familiarize himself with these and choose whichever one his own woodlot and observation suggest as the best. Or, should the owner desire a special plan for the management of his woodlot, he should make application to the Forester, U. S. Department of Agriculture, for the co-operation of the Forest Service.

Adding to Immense Quarry Interests. The Proctors have bought a quarry at Danby for about $150,000, leased the Griffith south end plant for a marble mill, also a large water power in Mount Tabor to generate electricity with which to run the quarry, and are negotiating for a railroad to the quarry and are near a deal with W. H. Bond for his store and hotel.
